Social media has changed the world— why is your marketing still the same?

It's everywhere you look; everyone from teenagers to grandmothers is Tweeting, sharing photos on Instagram® and updating statuses on Facebook®. It's changed how people connect with one another, and that means old marketing tactics aren't as effective as they once were.

If you want to be successful in the modern world, you need to have a social media presence—this is not an option. But just jumping into social media without a plan can be worse than having no presence at all.

Develop a plan to help you maximize your social media marketing efforts.

Organizations that are effectively using social media have one thing in common: They have a clearly defined plan. They know what they want to achieve from their efforts, which tools work best for their needs and how to get results. When you leave this course, you'll know all of that and more.

No matter whether you're a complete social marketing newbie or a veteran, this two-day course has all the information you need to take your social media efforts to the next level and generate real results!

It's time to join the future—learn how to put social media marketing to work for you.

Social media marketing isn't like traditional marketing. It's a two-way street, one that allows you to engage in conversation with people who use and are affected by your organization. It lets you handle customer service issues and deal with negative experiences immediately.

But if you aren't up to date on the latest social media techniques, you may be doing more harm than good. Don't let your organization develop a negative reputation.

Sign up for this training and you'll learn how to:

- Determine your social media goals and develop a plan to reach them
- Identify which social media platforms will work for you
- Promote your organization in a way that will generate real followers

With more than 1 billion users, Facebook® is by far the most popular social media site. You'll learn how organizations are using it successfully and how it can benefit you.

Facebook's professional twin, LinkedIn® can be a great tool for finding and developing professional relationships. Learn how to make a good impression on this platform.

All the power of social media contained in 140 characters or less, Twitter® can be a great tool for starting conversations or handling feedback. Learn how and what you should be Tweeting for maximum impact.

More than just funny cat videos and South Korean pop videos, YouTube® can be a powerful tool in your social media arsenal if you know how to use it.

The new kid on the block, Google+® has a ton of great functionality that can help you connect with the people who matter in your industry. Find out how you can turn this into an asset for your organization.

Check-ins and coupons drive Foursquare®. Find out if it will work for your organization and how to use it to drive business.

And more! Instagram®, Pinterest®, reddit—there are tons of great and popular social media sites out there. This two-day course will help you identify which ones are ideal for your needs and help you develop an effective strategy to get the most out of all of them!

Why attend live training on social media marketing?

It's true—there's a ton of information about social media marketing. And theoretically, you could get all the information you'd gather in this course from reading blogs, articles and hints online. Of course, with that option you also run the very real risk of picking up a bunch of outdated or just plain wrong information from any of the so-called social media "experts" out there.

Don't waste a bunch of time reading articles that may or may not be able to offer you insight into what makes a successful social media campaign. Learn from experts who know what you're facing, what works and how you can apply it. Plus, you can ask questions and get immediate answers.

Application-based Learning— Our Unique Training Approach

Have you ever been to training that sounded great in theory and then had little to no application back on the job? We promise—that's not what you'll find here!

We've developed this program to be the most practical training you've ever experienced! Here's how we do that ...

- 1. Practice, practice, practice! Your trainer is going to put you to work—but don't worry, you won't be put on the spot. Instead, you'll actively work through some thought-provoking simulations that will help you think through social media scenarios you'll face back on the job. You'll get plenty of experience answering "How should I handle this situation?" or "What's the best way to spread this news?" These practical applications are a great way to develop skills in a safe environment where the stakes are low so you can step up to the plate back on the job where the pressure is real.
- 2. Learn with and from others. Your fellow attendees have a lot of experience in the social media world and face many of the same issues that you do. This training offers many opportunities to compare notes and ideas with fellow social media professionals and find practical solutions to the social media questions you have.
- 3. Ask questions about the problems you're facing. You're struggling to figure this whole social media thing out, especially how it relates to your business and your situation. If you weren't, you wouldn't be reading this. This training offers you the opportunity to ask questions and get real-world, practical solutions to the social media issues you're facing from a trainer who knows what it's like to be in your shoes.
